

Example 1 with 4 prelim rounds, break to quarters:

Friday (this schedule allows for judge comments and a dinner break and can easily run on time):

4:00 - WS Impromptu motion announced for Round 1 (judge training occurs during this prep time)

5:00 - WS Round 1 - Impromptu and judge comments

6:30 - Dinner break

7:00 - WS Round 2 - Prepared motion

8:30 - WS Round 3 - Prepared motion

Saturday (assumes traditional IE morning - not labeling these rounds as they vary from tournament to tournament but just view these as IE time slots)

8:00 - IEs 1

9:30 - IEs 2

11:00 - WS Round 4 - either Prepared OR Impromptu- impromptu would take 2 hours and WS debaters could not be in the 12:30 IE round, if prepared, then 1 hour and students could compete in the 12:30 IE round

12:30 - IEs 3

1:30 - WS Quarters (some tournaments will go straight to semis in WS based on numbers - I'm assuming a larger event for purposes of scheduling - if you break to quarters I suggest keeping that as a prepared motion since it will only require one hour and is easier to work around IE elims)

2:45 - IE 4 (typically semis)

4:00 - WS Semis - impromptu motion announced

5:00 - WS Semis

6:15 - IE 5 (typically finals)

7:30 - WS Finals - Prepared motion

Both IE and WS elims could be accelerated if cross-entries didn't exist.

Example 2 with 3 prelim rounds, break to quarters:

6:30 - Dinner break

7:00 - WS Round 2 - Prepared motion

8:00 - IEs 1

9:30 - IEs 2

11:00 - WS Quarters - Prepared motion

12:30 - IEs 3

1:30 - WS Semis - Impromptu motion announced

2:30 - WS Semis

3:30 - IE Semis
